What: People's Community Clinic's 40th Birthday fundraiser
"There's no such thing as a free lunch" Luncheon

When: May 10 from 11:30 to 1 pm

Where: Renaissance Austin Hotel at the Arboretum
9721 Arboretum Boulevard (map on reverse)

Featuring: Anna Deavere Smith

Noted actress, playwright and author Anna Deavere Smith will be performing selections from her one-woman play Let Me Down Easy, which garnered rave reviews during its off-Broadway run and which Austinites remember from its preview at the Zach Scott Theater. The play presents monologues about individuals intersecting with the healthcare system. Ms. Smith is currently appearing in the TV Series Nurse Jackie and is a professor of performance studies at New York University.

A Great Cause!

One out of every four people in Central Texas has no health insurance. 11,000 patients call the Clinic their medical home. The patients at People's Community Clinic are working people with jobs that do not provide insurance—construction workers, wait staff, and child care workers, to name a few. Patients can meet all their primary care needs at a single location. Good healthcare makes sense.
